OCEAN'S PERILS.

A Series of Marine Accidents.

An ocean disaster of a horrible character took place off the capes of Delaware, on the night of report, among other recommendations, asks atdied, a few days ago, at Lenox, Mass., at the the 7th inst., by which thirty-iwo of the fiftyseven persons aboard the steamship Champion went down into a watery grave. The ship Lady Octavia struck the Champion square ami !ships at 4 o'clock on the morning m question, and she sank in five minutes. The ship was badly damaged, but kept affoat. The Champion was on her trip from New York for Charleston, S. C. Three women and several children were among the lost, only and several children were among the lost, only one female—the stewardess—being saved from the stemart. Immediately after the cellision, a boat was sent out from the ship, which in two trips picked up twenty-two of the crew and passengers of the wrocked vessel. A passing sailing vessel saved six, two passengers and four of the crew. The cellision would seem to have been caused by carelessness, but on whose part is not at present certain.

On the night of the 9th inst., the steamer Falcon, from Baltimore for Charleston, collided with the schooner S. C. Tryon, from Kennebee river to Baltimore, loaded with lumber. As soon as the vessels diffed apart after the cellision, the steamer was headed for shoal water, and she went down before proceeding half a mile. All the passengers and crew were saved, the steamer baving reached water shalsaved, the steamer baying reached water shallow enough to allow the rigging to stand above water, where they took refuge and were taken water, where they took retuge and were taken off in boats.

The Guyon line steamer Arizona, from New York for Liverpool, struck an iceberg and stove in her bows, and was obliged to put back to St. John, N. F.

The schooler Petrol, a small whaling schooner, was dismasted by severe gales in the last days of October, and drifted about at the mercy of the waves until the 29th, when she capsized, and fifteen persons were lost, including the Captain. The six survivors clung to the wreck until the 3d of November, when they were saved by Austrian bark Rebus. The sufferings of the rescued sailors were terrible, and they could have held out but little longer. Only one American was aboard, all the rest be-

In Michigan and elsewhere along the north-ern national boundary line extensive depreda-tions are reported to have been committed upon our public timber lands by Canadians.

-After a good deal of effort on the part of the Galesburg (III.) officials, the parties guilty of throwing rotten eggs at Gen. Grant and party, while passing through there on the cars at night, have been discovered, and are found to be three boys, aged 13, 14 and 15 years. The hoodums state that they were put up to the act to the interest on the public debt. The re-mainder of the increase arises from the civil miscellancous list in the different departments. The operations in bonds, during the fiscal year 1879, were very large. There was issued, in bonds or securities, gold certificates, refunding certificates, and United States notes, $702,867,463. There was released, from the same sources, $639,445,893—making a net excess of issues over redemptions of $93,361,833.

It is go a tually yielding to the more collightened and retined seature into which govern the relations between young men of the present day. The change introduced two years ago by the restoration of instruction in the English language in the first year's course has proved beneficial. It is requisite that young officers should be given reasonable facilities and encouragement in all arms of the service, and to continue their professional studies in connection with the practical application of military principles. Without such opportunities little further progress is generally made after leaving the academy, and much that has been leaving the academy, and much that has been leaving the academy, and much that has been leaving the academy, such opportunities are now presented for a post-

Annual Report of the Treasurer of the United States.

The report of the Hon. James G. Gilfillan, Treasurer of the United States, shows that the total net revenue for the fiscal year 1870 was $273,827,184. The total net expenditures for 1879 were $236,947,883, leaving a net increase of funds of $6,879,300. There were received from customs sources, $137,250,047; from internal revenue, $113,561,610; from lands, $924,781; and from miscellaneous sources, $22,000,745. A comparison of the receipis from all sources for the fiscal years 1879 and 1873 shows the following result: There was a decrease in 1879 of the revenue from lands of $15,402. From all other sources there was a marked increase. The increase of 1871 and 1870 and 1870 and 1870 of the revenue from lands of $154,402. From all other sources there was a marked increase. Tossing Upon a Bed of Agony.

Tortured in every joint with inflammatory rheumatism, is a prospect which may become a melancholy fact if the twinges of the dread disorder are not checked at the outset. Persons of a rheumatic tendency find Hostetter's Stomach Bitters a useful remedy, nor do they encounter the risk in using it they do from resorting to that active poison, Colchicum, which is often employed to arrest the malady. The use of the Bitters is equally as effective in its results, and is attended with no risk.
